Our BA-220 is tested and certified by ETL to meet UL 294 specifications. The primary purpose of this certification is to assure public safety.

This certification becomes void on any BA-220 that has been modified in any way. This includes any holes added to the box, anything attached to the box, or any additional wiring inside the box.

Modifications to the BA-220 can cause performance problems, but more importantly they can be a serious safety issue.

Sincerely
